TITLE:

Redmond 2050: Planning Commission Recommendations for Phase 2B Comprehensive Plan Elements and Critical Areas Regulations

OVERVIEW STATEMENT:

Staff recommends that the City Council provide direction for topics or issues to discuss at its July 9 and July 23 study sessions concerning the Planning Commission's recommendations for:

- Utilities; Capital Facilities; and Participation, Implementation, and Evaluation Elements; and
- Natural Environment Element and Critical Areas Regulations.

On April 24, 2024, the Planning Commission recommended approval of the above-listed components of the Redmond Comprehensive Plan and Redmond Zoning Code. Staff will introduce the Commission's recommendations at the Council's July 2 business meeting.

Staff recommends that Council first review the Planning Commission Reports (Attachments B and D), which summarize the amendments and include the full text of the amendments. Detailed Planning Commission Report appendices are included as Attachments C and E.

- Feedback Summary:

Capital Facilities: Generally supportive of updates. Discussions included how capital facilities planning can incorporate Redmond 2050 themes of Equity and Inclusion, Resiliency, and Sustainability.

Utilities: Comments on resiliency of systems, such as water and power systems. Support for need to move away from natural gas as an energy source, and openness for alternatives. Discussions on ensuring equity in service provision, especially telecommunications.

Participation, Implementation, and Evaluation. Generally supportive of policy direction. There was some discussion on the implementation and evaluation program and on promoting active participation in boards and commissions by removing participation barriers.

Natural Environment: Discussions and comments included protection of the Critical Aquifer Recharge Area (CARA), environmental stewardship, and incorporation of indigenous knowledge into planning processes.

Critical Areas Regulations: Generally supportive of updates. Discussions about the following: protection of the CARA, increasing critical area buffers, best available science, species of local importance, map updates, stream typing and climate resiliency.
