Redmond 2050: Planning Commission Recommendation for Transportation Element and Regulations

OVERVIEW STATEMENT:

Staff recommends that the City Council provide direction on transportation policy issues raised at its March 5 business meeting and discussed further at the Council's March 12 study session. The Council's discussion to date is documented in Attachment A.

On February 14, 2024, the Planning Commission recommended approval of updates to the Transportation Element, Transportation Element Appendices, and transportation-related regulations. Staff introduced the Commission's recommendation at the Council's March 5 business meeting, and the Council held a study session focused on transportation impact fees on March 12.

The Planning Commission Report, which summarizes the amendments and includes the full text of the amendments, was provided in your March 5 packet, beginning on page 300.
